

Georgia is a golf destination for today's elite players and tomorrow's young champions.

GEORGIA GOLF

The Masters® in Augusta is the game's most prestigious event and, like the world's best players, you can make Georgia your first major golf destination of the 2014 season.

From mountain-valley fairways to oceanside elevated greens, the Georgia Golf Trail features 16 superb destination resorts, complete golf packages with everything included but a green jacket, and a unique 2014 home-grown pairing: Georgia native Davis Love III designed the Kinderlou Forest course, site of the Web.com Tour's South Georgia Classic (April 28-May 4), and will host the PGA TOUR's McGladrey Classic (October 20-26) at Sea Island Golf Club.

For vacationing families on a budget, the Georgia State Park Golf Courses offer stay-and-play plans with lodge or cabin accommodations, daily rounds and all-natural fun that can include hiking, biking, fishing, canoeing and more. Among the noteworthy layouts are The Lakes at Laura S. Parker State Park, named Georgia's Best Municipal Course by Golf Digest in 2009 and The Creek at Hard Labor, dubbed the "4th sweetest deal in the USA" by Golf Digest Frugal Golfer in 2010.

Call 1-800 VISIT GA to order your official 2014 Georgia Travel Guide or go to ExploreGeorgia.org to plan your visit.

Sweet Spot with a twist

There's a place where fairways and putting greens are more than just a pleasant way to spend the day. Where legends and legacies abound on some of the most beautiful and unique links in the world. A place where over 300 public and private courses are waiting to create your best golf vacation ever, and the days are anything but par for the course. That place is Georgia.

ExploreGeorgia.org

